Apparitions MC Annual Labor Day Weekend Party:

This is one of them parties that I have wanted to go check out for over 20 years. Being held out in the middle of nowhere just south of New Glarus, WI the clubhouse is surrounded by rolling hills and flourishing crops amongst the giant Oaks. It's sorta like being on an island that is connected to land. While talking to Trapper, he told me a neat story of how this place came to be, but I will let the Brothers tell you the story next year when you go for yourself.

The trip down was uneventful until my curiosity got the best of me. I turned around to get a picture of a sign on 69 coming into New Glarus that said "New Glarus Clinic now open Monday & Wednesday until 7pm." Didn't see the Clinic part till after, but I thought it was funny. (Never did get the picture) After I was done I jumped back on my bike and low and behold it wouldn't start. I called Dirty Joe who took time out of his sign duty to give me a hand. I got her going but thought that was pretty cool. What's Brotherhood about if not that. I finally got to the party, set up and had a relaxing time hanging at the party and running around the area doing what I do best, just checking things out.

Once Saturday night rolled around the crowd wasn't great like I have heard about in past years, (but I did find out the party was down sized to a more manageable size) but who was there were all having a good time listening to the hard rockin' music of Kick Stand.

Sunday we went on one of the most invigorating runs I have ever attended. In fact, riding around with the others on the poker run, I fell in love with the beauty of Southwest, WI & Northwest, IL and I do plan on doing a lot of riding down that way this year. (More from the poker run in a future issue)

To make a long story short: Will I be back? Yep! Did I have fun while there? Yep! Would I recommend this party to others? You bet. See you all next time around. And to the Apparitions MC, Thx for the invite.
