A Spring Tradition

The wind is just a little warmer, we had an ice storm mixed with more snow and the sun's out and the snow banks are starting to shrink. I need to get the last parts for the bike ordered up. Heck even day light savings time is here already, a month early but no refunds.

Time to start thinking about the 7th Annual Freedom Ride. Hey remember Joe and Charlie were there again last year. The group from Ladysmith came down to Gilman for the start. Looked like everyone made the winter, saw Tim's new paint, Tom's got a different bike and did you see Billy's ride.

It was a good ride down to Stanley and the American Bar they sure put the dog on for us. You remember the looks we got when we rolled into Augusta for the stop. To see a group like that with the flags flying and the veterans in the bus following makes people think about those who served for our freedom.

Even the riders had a few moments at the High Ground when the meaning of sacrifice was made very clear to everyone.

Then on to Neillsville and last stop being the American Legion Post. Quite a sight to see the fire engines and ambulance escort through town with people standing on the sides to offer their support. Even the Law Enforcement support at the intersections makes you wonder about the lack of support for our military troops.

Another ride done, another season begun. Check calender for this years event, May 2nd.
