Ben-Hur Race Chair

Published by Cyril Huze December 9th, 2010 in Accessories, Customs and Editorial.

Since you know that my passion is good design with some irreverent style, what about a 4-wheeled chair that you could "race", Ben-Hur style, although evidently it's not its purpose.

More a chair to show your guests or clients that you have quite a sense of humor. It works well too for fast trips to the fridge during a TV commercials. But you need a lot of money to spare because it comes at a very high price from internationally renown Designer Jean Paul Gaultier, "the terrible child" of French Fashion (he is the man who designed the infamous sculptured Cone-Bra of Madonna stage costumes, is using full-figured women and older men for his fashion shows, is promoting skirts for men, etc.). Email and I will give you the address, but only if you carry a Black Amex. editor@cyrilhuzeblog.com
