Wolf's Head Rally and Tour July 14-17, 2005

I finally made it to the Wolf's Head Rally after trying for a couple of years. I ran into Tim Krohn and Jack Eudy of Lake Basin Promotions who do a great job organizing this and other events at just about every swap meet and Bike show I attend. So with plenty of notice I committed July 15th to go for a couple of days. Even though I was only there until Saturday afternoon, I rank this event the #1 Biker Family event I went to the summer of '05

The Wolf's Head Rally is located in Two Harbors, MN, about 20 miles North of Duluth on Hwy MN 61. Held at the Two Harbors Fairgrounds, a spot that overlooking Lake Superior, making for some nice breezes to keep things a bit cooler. Which helped considering it was in the mid 90's the week of the rally. The Rally itself is a very laid back time for people to mingle, talk and enjoy each others company. With tasty food for all meals from the Fresh Kill Cafe, vendors to check out which included demo rides from Ridley, Lynn from No Limit Custom Design that air brushed the Wolfshead Trailer that was given away Saturday night to Ken Helget, AMA, tattoo artist, leather goods and a shoe shiner (this was a new one for me.) The games included everything from Kids/adult games, with another first for me "a howling contest" along with other kids games and your typical biker games like the burnout pit where you have burns down past the rims and a trike this year. This year the bike show yielded 28 bikes with the money from the entry fees going to St. Jukes Childrens Hospital.

Entertainment Friday night by High Bridge Flyers and Saturday by Misbehavin. All this along with some beautiful scenery if you get the itch to take a nice ride like I did. Again I'd like to stress the fact that at today's riding events there are not many for families to participate in. Wolf's Head like many runs has church service's for all faiths put on by CMA everyday.

If you have never been to this rally put it on your calender for next years events. Check schedules www.wolfsheadrally.com for tour, rally or Jim Hogan Run info. The rally tour date for 2006 are July 9-16, 2006 with the rally being July 13-16th. Hope to see you all there.
