

Free Riders Press Nights

You may have noticed that since the Dec issue there have been advertised Free Riders Press nights at select Free Riders Press advertisers establishments. What these nights boil down to is my never ending effort trying to expose my readers to new places or giving them a fun night out with people that have the same thing in common, and that's riding.

The FRP get together consist of some food, fun, friends, free beer and raffles, but more importantly it allows me to showcase the folks that allow me to keep giving you a monthly read through their advertising dollars. The way I look at it, without them, you go without me, and without me you need to find a new venue to get your riding information. So to keep the circle from coming to a stop, check out an FRP night. I think you will be pleasantly surprised how good of a time you could have. See calendar for June nights....
