Motorcycles Prohibited

Word comes to us that the City of Appleton is denying motorcycles access to municipal parking garages. The question is, "can they do this?" The answer, as we have seen in other situations is "yes" for safety reasons. Ah yes, the good old safety clause.

These garages have electronic controlled arms that swing up and down and they do not sense motorcycles so there is a possibility that a biker could be smacked in the head by an errant arm. To avoid the liability and injury, the garages forbid motorcycles from entering. But wait! These are municipal as in tax funded garages. Although costly to recalibrate, it seems the municipality should be encouraging the use of motorcycles, especially in supposed biker friendly Wisconsin, home to Harley-Davidson. An easy fix would be to shorten the length of the arm so bikes could navigate around, but the garages seem to be more worried about lost revenue from non-paying bikers than accommodating the bikes. Meanwhile, the governor of Maryland just signed a bill that would allow bikes in any tax funded parking garage and Maryland provides free parking for scooters. Seems the tiny state is more biker friendly than Wisconsin. Let's move this argument to the legislature. Until then, expect some protests in Appleton.
