

Don't miss a single issue of the Free Riders Press SUBSCRIBE today!!!

Biker's Perspective – Femalian Viewpoint By Jynx

New-found way to make an unintentional spring oil change exciting. Cranked-up the Springer today to find a quart, or so, of oil decorating my garage floor. Seems sitting over the winter the oil wanted to redirect it's self into the sump and flow out the breather. After allowing it to idle and adding new oil as it did, it finally seated and all is well. Can't complain, one "flow" a year is certainly easier to take than the once-a-month flow we're used to.

Thank God for my non-biker friends entertaining me throughout the long winter months cause many of my biker-kin seem to hibernate somewhere during the long chill. Not sure where, or for that matter why, but they do. I guess they're just resting up for the few months we have to strut our stuff on our fantastic two-wheeled thrill machines. And what a thrill it is to take off on that first journey across the salt laden roads, dodging the non-biker, non-bike-seeing, cell-using, drivers, oh what a phenomenal challenge of existence we choose to undergo, what unexplainable exuberance! As my tank so appropriately states "A Momentary Lapse of Reason!"

Yes we're off to another, too short, riding season. Time to polish up, deal with those new rust spots, loose parts, lubricate the tight joints, touch-up scratches, new get-up-and-go issues, buy new trinkets, hours and hours of work, hey wait, this is beginning to sound way too much like a personal problem rather than a bike issue, oh so sad, but true.

Hey buddies, time to wake-up, get out there and ride! Hope to see and meet you out on the road to share old, and form new memories. Ride safe, and until next time, I and my bike continue to age gracefully.

those new rust spots, loose parts, lubricate the tight joints, touch-up scratches, new get-up-and-go issues, buy new trinkets, hours and hours of work, hey wait, this is beginning to sound way too much like a personal problem rather than a bike issue, oh so sad, but true.

Harley Davidson Motorcycle Show at CenterPoint MarketPlace – The Harley-Davidson Motorcycle Show will take place at the CenterPoint MarketPlace in Historic downtown Stevens Point on Sunday, May 7 from 11 a.m.- 5 p.m. CenterPoint MarketPlace is still accepting Harley participants. Please call (715)-344-1599 ext. 14 if you would like to join the show. Free admission to the public. Interested vendors may also call for additional information. Harley owners from throughout Central Wisconsin will display their custom, stock, sport, touring, and antique bikes.

WANTED

Taverns to participate in the Best Damn Biker Bar contest on June 24, 2006 at CC's Grove 8258 S Kean, Willow Springs, IL

All bars will be included in upcoming Biker Bar book

Bars must register prior to event
Call Kenn at 630-675-6852 or go to website: www.chicagobikerbars.com for details

Precision CYCLE REPAIR

Your Motorcycle Specialists
Joshua Cullinan
Owner
920-622-3383
430 Main St./PO Box 273 Wild Rose, WI 54984

Custom Builders
Full Service Shop
Dyno Tuning

Warren's Cycle
www.warrenscycle.com
Buy direct from catalog online

1221 W. Rolling Road
Round Lake, IL 60073
(847) 546-8613

MDA

Fire Fighters Ride

MAY 19th & 20th

wausaufire.com

All motorcyclists welcome for a scenic country ride, lunch and poker run, then back for live music with Vic Ferrari. Special guest Michele Smith as seen on American Thunder-Speed Ch.

$20 per person preregistered by May 10th also includes: T-shirt, snacks, drinks & pizza

715-355-8789 / WAUSAU, WISCONSIN

CAR SHOW ★ HARLEY RAFFLE ★ MOTORCYCLE PARADE ★ VENDORS

2005 RIDE - OVER 460 BIKES

MICHELE SMITH