

Club 10 Poker Run

This is one of them runs that just is not meant for me to run on. The poker run held on July 25th started and ended at Club 10. Considering it was the same day Summer Twister ended, I figured I would give it the old college try. This was the start of things to not be. I got there about noon, signed up figuring on making the run. After registering I even got the road grime off the old shovel with a bike wash from Bomb Squad Bikini Bike Wash. The old girl did look better. After eating, getting some pics and meeting some new people the run was about to start. I figured I would get some pics of the riders leaving, then grab my bike and take off. Well I suppose I should of asked were the first stop was, cause I had no idea. Ok I said to my self, I'll skip the run and go home relax for awhile , then head back to Club 10 for the drawings. Needless to say I never woke up again. I stopped in the next day and found out the only casualties was a rear tire, and a little pride. (Remember, top off the tank before leaving) Hope all had a good time.
