Day's of Past were relived at the 4th Annual "Milwaukee Bike Works Honda Drop" for all that came. The weather was great, the food was great and the beer was even better. The 250 plus that showed seemed to all take in the scenery while waiting for the festivities to begin.

The "Wild Life Refuge Bar" for those of you, who didn't make it, is the perfect setting for this event or any bike event for that matter. There is a lot of room for the bikes; however, parking is on gravel or grass. The bar is an old farm house (I heard different things about what it used to be but we won't mention that) surrounded by woods with enough acreage to put on any kind of bash.

Back to the Drop, Brett (Mr. Milwaukee BikeWorks) was in his prime wearing his "Hollywood Deluxe Glasses" and that shit eatin' grin all day long, especially when he started that first Honda and tried to blow its engine. He turned the job over to anybody else that wanted to lose some frustration and the grins on these different people trying to blow up the bikes was hilarious.

Then came the bike drop(s) and of course the burning Honda. The music was good considering 2 members got lost coming or something like that. But the 3 that made it got things rolling.

Hey! For $10 bucks you got a lot of laughs, food, beer, raffles & entertainment. Speaking of raffles, one of them was for a $2,500.00 custom paint job, and no I didn't win. So if they continue to have this event and you weren't here this year see ya next year because it was a gas!!!!!!!!!!
