

We all have our favorite runs. The one that brings back memories, goes to certain establishments or has a particular group of individuals that make it memorable. Well my favorite run last year was all of the above. It happened during the Milwaukee Rally weekend. It was a short run that went approximately 6 miles in length. Had all the "Old School" people on it and went to a couple places I had never been.

In short the name of the run was, well it really doesn't have a name. It started and finished at, well I can't really say because it involves one hell of a party afterwards. The people on it included, if you were on it you would know this answer to.

What can I say about it is that, all traffic light signals were obeyed (ya right), speed limits not exceeded (hehehehe) and parking was proper (we thought the median grass is proper). I hope I get an invite again this year because you guys all rock.
